

WAC Vertical Model for Writing Skills Rev Sept 2013

The vertical writing model was designed to give students continued support for writing during their careers at Appalachian, with writing experience each year, and structure to archive writing for both students and the university.

Outcomes in color indicate shared learning outcomes across all four years of dedicated writing courses.*

Introductory Composition and Writing Across the Curriculum	Writing in the Discipline	Writing in the Discipline/Capstone	Portfolio
First year: Introductory course with research component in collaboration with information literacy program, ENG 1000, FL and WGC first-year Composition	Second year: Writing course focusing on application of first-year proficiencies in new, multiple WAC contexts with information literacy component, ENG 2001 and WGC 2001	Third year: Writing in the Disciplines (WID) at entry level with information literacy component	Fourth year: Capstone: Writing in the Discipline at advanced level, with information literacy component	Portfolio/ ePortfolio compiled over academic career as resource for further education and career investment and WAC assessment
Writes to discover and to communicate Drafts, revises, and edits effectively Writes with strong voice and authority Analyzes and responds effectively to different rhetorical situations Locates, evaluates, synthesizes, and documents primary and secondary sources Participates actively in writing community Reflects upon semester's writing with ability to evaluate own work and that of community	Practices proficiencies from first year writing Writes in a variety of academic genres Applies rhetorical knowledge to analyzing texts from different genres and from different academic communities Uses rhetorical skills to match research to needs of writing situation and address audiences effectively Demonstrates proficiency in at least two documentation styles Reflects upon and evaluates own writing in the context of writing across the curriculum	Applies proficiencies from first and second years' writing courses Writes effectively in the genres of the discipline Demonstrates rhetorical knowledge in reading and analyzing texts to produce effective writing in the discipline Documents correctly in the conventions of the discipline Desirable: Reflects on semester's writing with emphasis on writing within the discipline	Applies proficiencies from earlier writing courses and knowledge of writing in the discipline Writes effectively in genres appropriate to advanced level of the discipline Demonstrates rhetorical knowledge of texts and writing conventions of the discipline to produce effective writing at advanced level Documents correctly in the conventions of the discipline Participates in a community of readers and writers in discipline Desirable: Reflects upon undergraduate writing from the perspective of the capstone experience	Addresses goals and outcomes of vertical writing model Includes examples of strong, polished writing from college career Reflects on pieces of writing and collection as a whole in the context of multiple academic communities with application inside and outside the university